Its Advantages.

It is frequently the case that persons are prevented from embarking in important and profitable enterprises by a failure to comprehend their advantages. They are almost sure to place too high an estimate upon the cost, while they omit to give proper consideration to the benefits that will arise therefrom. And such is true especially of people who have experienced great adversity, or who have been often disappointed in reference to a given object. The people of our country have tasted deeply of the cup of bitterness, and they are not strangers to disappointed hopes. For the last generation they have felt the great need of a railroad between Camden and Lancaster, and thence to Charleston or Chester. And they frequently fancied themselves on the eve of witnessing the fruition of their hopes. Railroad meetings were held, speeches made, money subscribed, and the work of building a road almost begun. Men and women of delicate nerves had even begun to think to themselves what they would do with their children, cows and pigs when the engine came snorting along. But, from one cause or another, the road was not built, and the planters of upper Kershaw and Lancaster Counties have been obliged to put up with the same inconveniences which they have always undergone.

Another opportunity, however, is now presented. The people of Georgetown, Williamsburg, Clarendon, Sumter and Lancaster Counties are becoming aroused on the subject of a railroad; and, to accomplish our cherished desire, it is not necessary that we co-operate with them. But the question is: Are our people, in their present impoverished condition, able to build a railroad? In order to answer this question, one must consider the cost of constructing such a road as the one proposed, and also the benefits that will arise therefrom.

In regard to the cost, it is estimated that a narrow gauge road through a comparatively level country, as ours is, will not cost more than $8,000 per mile. So a quarter of a million dollars would build and stock a road through Kershaw County from the Sumter to the Lancaster line. And, with an earnest effort on the part of a few influential citizens, that amount could be easily raised by private subscriptions of money, and contributions of land, upon which loans could be secured.

It is presumed that no one doubts that the road contemplated would prove a profitable investment. As a principle of economy, it is an admitted fact that railroads always prove beneficial to the interests of the territory which they penetrate. The price of lands is greatly enhanced, the cost of transportation reduced, the facilities for travel increased, immigrants attracted, the resources of the country developed, and the condition of the people improved beyond their most sanguine expectations. The cost of carrying the Georgetown railroad through Kershaw County is trifling when compared with the immense advantages it would confer upon the people living along its route. It is an enterprise which should enlist the serious attention of our citizens.

The Conviction of Cardozo.

Contrary to general expectation, the Trial of Francis L. Cardozo, the colored State Treasurer during the administrations of Moses and Chamberlain, for conspiracy to defraud the State, terminated on Wednesday in the conviction of the pithy ex-Treasurer. The jury was composed of six Republicans and six Democrats, and it was feared by some and hoped by others that the prosecution would result in a mistrial. The accused was most ably defended by Judge Melton, who exerted his fine talents to the utmost to secure his acquittal, and Attorney-General Conner, as if sure of his game, was unusually magnanimous throughout the trial, every courtesy being shown the defense, and every regard had for the comfort of the jury. So it cannot be said that the case was one of persecution. The testimony introduced during the trial of Cardozo reveals to the world the desperate condition of affairs in South Carolina during Radical rule. His conviction, while a fearful warning to corrupt public officials everywhere, is but the forerunner of many others that must inevitably follow.

The Conviction of Smalls.

Following immediately the conviction of Cardozo is that of Robert Smalls, colored ex-Senator, and at present a member of Congress from the third district, of bribery, in that he accepted $5,000 for his vote upon a measure before the Legislature in reference to the public printing. Like Cardozo, Smalls had able counsel, both Judges Melton and Carpenter appearing for him, and was tried by an impartial jury, there being six Republicans and six Democratic jurors. The case was given to the jury Saturday evening, and a verdict was rendered before breakfast Sunday morning. The trial of L. Cass Carpenter, for forgery, comes next. Judge Carpenter defends him. Col. Abney represents the State.

Editorial Items.

COLONEL JOHN H. EVINS, member of Congress from this district, has been appointed upon the Committee on Military Affairs, and Col. D. Wyatt Aiken upon the Committee on Agriculture.

JUDGE R. B. CARPENTER, as associate counsel for congressman Smalls, who has recently been convicted in Columbia, delivered a bitter, but characteristic, speech against the people of South Carolina the other day. Perhaps Judge Carpenter does not remember that he once sought honor and position at the hands of the people he now traduces, who then supported him willingly and cheerfully, and who are no worse now than they were then. Surely the ex-Judge of the Fifth Circuit must fancy that Morion's mantle has fallen upon him.

A BILL for the repeal of the Resumption Act is now before the House of Representatives, and will certainly pass that body. But its success in the Senate is doubtful.

GEN. GRANT was blamed, and justly too, for taking care of his friends, so far as appointing them to office was concerned. But Mr. Hayes seems to exercise as much favoritism as ever Grant did. Every lawyer who appeared for him before the Electoral Commission has been rewarded with a valuable appointment, while his champions in Louisiana and elsewhere, (except in South Carolina where they have utterly failed to influence the Presidential ear,) have not been neglected.

JUDGE NOATUROR has been confirmed as U. S. District Attorney for South Carolina. It was the best appointment that could be made without going into the Democratic ranks.

THE re-establishment of the whipping post is being seriously discussed by several of our State exchanges. It seems a relic of barbarism, but it would do more to prevent petty crimes than any other kind of punishment.

THAT consummate scamp, L. Cass Carpenter, formerly editor and proprietor of the old Columbia Union, ex-Congressman, ex-Rent Collector, and a most powerful man in his party during the days of high carnival, is in jail awaiting trial for forgery, he being charged with having altered warrants he held upon the State Treasurer, so that he received thousands instead of hundreds of dollars. Carpenter is undoubtedly guilty, and a sentence to the penitentiary for a term of years will be a fit consummation of a long and reckless course of villainy.

GOV. WILLIAMS, of Indiana, has appointed Hon. Daniel W. Voorhees to fill the unexpired term of Mr. Morton in the United States Senate. Mr. Voorhees has a national reputation for ability, eloquence, and sincere devotion to the cause of the people of the South. Upon all questions affecting the South Senator Morton was the leader of the Republicans in the United States Senate. His place in this regard will not likely be filled. There are others who possess more ability as statesmen, and hate the South quite as much, but they lack Morton's pluck and pertinacity.

AN Ohio Democrat is reported to have actually laughed himself to death over the late triumph of our party in that State.

THE Baltimore City Council is entirely Democratic. Prof. Jos. P. Pritchard, son of Rev. C. H. Pritchard, of the South Carolina Conference, has been elected rector of the Cokesbury Conference School.

THE total indebtedness of Chester County is said to be $157,000.
